Profile

Hao Wu is a Hong Kong lawyer specializing in construction and arbitration. He has experience in advising PRC, Hong Kong and multinational companies, with a particular focus in construction. He has acted for employers, contractors, subcontractors, suppliers, engineering consultancy firms and architecture firms in both contentious and non-contentious sides of construction matters, including arbitrations, claims preparations, construction contract review and drafting, project execution, etc.

Hao is an adjudicator on the HKIAC's Panel of Adjudicators. Beyond his Hong Kong legal qualification, Hao has passed the PRC Greater Bay Area Legal Professional Examination, and will be eligible for practising PRC law within the Greater Bay Area.

Prior to his legal career, Hao worked as a civil engineer. He has gained valuable technical construction experience at renowned engineering and construction companies such as Arup and Gammon Construction, after obtaining civil engineering degrees with first class honours. In addition to his legal qualifications, Hao is also an Associate Member of the Institution of Civil Engineers, an Accredited Project Manager for NEC4 Engineering and Construction Contract, and a Council Member (co-opted) of the Society of Construction Law Hong Kong.

He is fluent in English, Mandarin, and Cantonese, making him one of the very rare trilingual construction law specialists in Hong Kong with a robust technical background in construction.
